

INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC ADVISORY BOARD (ISAB)

The International Scientific Advisory Board is composed of leading academics in the field of public health, toxicology, nutrition and nursing worldwide. They, in conjunction with the Industry Advisory Board, advise on the academic programmes and future research directions for the Centre.

The duties of the International Scientific Advisory Board include:

- a. Building a positive environment for achieving the objectives of the Centre.
- b. Establishing strategic direction and key initiatives for the operations of the Centre
- c. Engaging in mobilizing resources, human and material, necessary for the Centre to achieve set objectives
- d. Participating in upgrading the quality of management and creating excellence in the operations of the Centre.
- e. Providing technical backstopping in their respective areas of expertise to enhance the deliverables of the Centre.

Members of the International Scientific Advisory Board

| Partner Leader | Organisation |
|------------------------------------|---|
| Prof Vincent Idemyor (Chairman) | VTI Consulting, Chicago and Visiting Professor to University of Port Harcourt |
| Prof Thuppil Venkatesh | Principal Advisor Quality Council of India (QCI) & National Referral Centre for Lead Projects in India |
| Prof Josephine Etowa | School of Nursing, University of Ottawa |
| Prof Chima John Ohuabunwa | Moore house School of Medicine, Atlanta |
| Prof Ted Myers | Dalla Lana School of Public Health, Toronto |
| Prof Jean Hannan | Florida International University |
| Prof Ferdinard Ofodile | Columbia University, New York |
| Prof Ben Wodi | State University of New York at Cortland |
| Prof Mary Steen | School of Nursing and Midwifery, University of South Australia |